PINBUD.COM LAUNCHES BETA IN THE UNITED STATES

AUSTIN, Texas (July 8, 2010) – PinBud US Inc. (<http://www.pinbud.com>), a private start-up internet company, has launched the beta version of its website in the United States.

PinBud.com is a social internet platform connecting consumers with local service providers. PinBud enables users to find, research, rate, review, and compare business listings in their area. In addition, users can contact multiple businesses using a single online service request form, where the service providers have subscribed to this feature. With the single request form consumers will save time and effort when asking for a quote or booking a job on a wide range of personal, household, automotive, and professional services.

PinBud.com is completely free for users seeking services. Businesses pay a low cost annual membership fee or have the option of a free basic listing. The Gold membership, a complete package, is available as a free trial.

The website was first launched in Canada in January 2010; since then, it has experienced consistent growth as new business and personal accounts are subscribing daily. As an innovative company with a talented team, PinBud is quick and flexible to adapt based on user feedback. “We have been implementing a lot of customer feedback ensuring that our comprehensive service will fulfill the changing needs of users and businesses. We intend to continuously listen to our users as we grow. PinBud provides a reliable, easy to use service that benefits both the consumer (by saving time) and the business owner (by increasing their customer base). This is a win-win relationship for everyone” says Christian Bujor, Co-Founder and CEO of PinBud.
